

Privacy Policy

Macpro Appliances And Projects is located at:

Shop 2 Tandela House, cnr De Wet Street, 12th Ave, Edenvale, 1609

Gauteng

South Africa

012 006 5119

Office hours are from 8:00 AM to 4:30 PM, Monday to Friday. We are closed on public holidays.

Privacy Policy

At Macpro Appliances and Projects, we value your privacy. We dedicate ourselves to protecting any information we collect while you use our website. This Privacy Policy pertains to www.macproappliances.co.za (referred to as “us”, “we”, or “www.macproappliances.co.za”). We value your privacy. We are committed to protecting any personal information you share with us on the Website.

We created this privacy policy (“Privacy Policy”) to explain what information we collect on our Website. It also describes how we use this information and when we might share it with others. This Privacy Policy applies only to the information we collect through the Website. It does not cover information we gather from other sources.

The rules for using our Website are in this Privacy Policy and the Terms and Conditions on our site. Your activities on our Website may necessitate your agreement to further terms and conditions.

Security

We value the safety of your Personal Information. However, it is important to know that no online transmission or electronic storage is completely secure. Although we endeavor to use commercially viable methods to safeguard your Personal Information, we cannot assure its complete security.

Advertisements

Our advertising associates may serve ads on our site, potentially utilizing cookies. These cookies help the ad server recognize your computer whenever it shows an internet ad.

They collect information about you and others who use your computer. This information assists ad networks in delivering personalized ads that they believe will be most appealing to you. This Privacy Policy explains how Macpro Appliances and Projects uses cookies. It does not cover cookies used by advertising partners.

Website Visitors

Like many website managers, Macpro Appliances And Projects collects non-personal identification data from web browsers and servers. This data includes the type of browser, language settings, referral site, and the date and time of each visit. Macpro Appliances And Projects collect this non-personal data to better understand how visitors use their website. Sometimes, they may share this non-personal data in a report about website usage trends. Macpro Appliances And Projects collect some personal data, like Internet Protocol (IP) addresses. This encompasses individuals who sign in and those who leave comments on blog posts at www.macproappliances.co.za.

Macpro Appliances And Projects reveals the IP addresses of logged-in users and those who leave comments. It does this in the same way it shares personal information. You can find more details explained below.

Links To External Sites

Our Service might include links to outside websites that we do not manage. If you select a link from a third party, the website will redirect you to that third party. We highly recommend that you examine the Privacy Policy and terms of service of each website you browse.

We do not control or take responsibility for third-party websites, products, or services. This includes their content and privacy rules.

Macpro Appliances And Projects employs Google AdWords for their Remarketing efforts. www.macproappliances.co.za employs remarketing strategies to promote on third-party platforms (such as Google) to past visitors of our website. This means we can advertise to past visitors who did not complete a task on our site. For example, they may not have sent an inquiry through our contact form. These advertisements might appear on the Google search results page or a site within the Google Display Network.

Third-party providers, Google included, utilize cookies to deliver ads based on a user's previous visits. Naturally, we will handle any data we gather according to our privacy policy and Google's privacy policy.

You can personalize the way Google displays ads to you through the Google Ad Preferences page. You can turn off interest-based advertising completely. Just change your cookie settings or install a browser plugin.

Gathering of Personally-Identifying Information

Some people who visit the Macpro Appliances and Projects website choose to interact in ways that need personal information. The amount and type of data that Macpro Appliances And Projects gathers depends on the nature of the interaction. Visitors who sign up for our blog at www.macproappliances.co.za need to provide a username. They also need to give an email address.

Safeguarding Specific Personal Identification Data

Macpro Appliances And Projects shares personal information only with its staff, contractors, and partners. They need this data to help Macpro Appliances and Projects.

They also provide services on the Macpro Appliances and Projects website. These parties have promised not to share the information with anyone else. Some staff, contractors and related groups may work outside your home country. By using the Macpro Appliances and Projects website, you agree to share your data with them.

Macpro Appliances And Projects will not rent or sell potentially personal and personally identifiable information to anyone. Macpro Appliances And Projects shares potentially personal information only in certain situations.

This includes when they receive a subpoena, court order, or other government request. They can share information if they believe it is necessary to protect their property or rights. They can also share information to protect the rights of others.

As a registered member of www.macproappliances.co.za, you may receive emails from Macpro Appliances and Projects. This is because you shared your email address.

These emails will update you on new features. They may ask for your feedback or keep you informed about Macpro Appliances and Projects. You will also learn about our latest products. Our blog is our main platform for sharing such details, hence we aim to limit the number of these emails as much as possible. If you send us a request, like a support email or feedback, we may publish it. This helps us address your request and assist other users. Macpro Appliances And Projects employs all feasible precautions to guard against unauthorized intrusion, utilization, modification, or obliteration of potentially personal identification data.

Privacy Policy Changes

Macpro Appliances and Projects reserves the right to modify its Privacy Policy at any time. We encourage users to frequently review this page for any changes. Your continued use of this website following any modifications signifies your acceptance of these changes.